

HTML Forms:

↳ What?

↳ Structure → To collect User Input

Eg:

Username:

Password:

Form Tags:

<form> Create HTML form

<input> For User Input

Eg:

☐ Male ☐ Female

☒ English

☒ Hindi

My	Day	2004
1	6	11
2	7	12
3	8	13
4	9	14
5	10	15

<label> → Create label for <input>

→ Screen Reader

→ Connects label and input tags

via 'for' attribute

<label for="a"><input id="a"/>

<input type=" " >

Enter Name:  (Default) type="text"

Enter Password:  type="password"

☐ Male ☐ Female ☐ Other type="radio"

☒ English ☒ Hindi type="checkbox"

type="date"

type="submit"

How to access values from <input>?

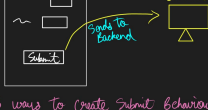

Use id="name" OR name="age"

Why to keep <label for="a"> & <input id="a"> with same value a?

So that clicking on label activates its corresponding input

What is <input type="submit">?

Form

3 ways to Create Submit Behaviour of Form?

→ <input type="submit">

→ <button>

→ <form action="">

What is value="a" attribute?

It assigns the value of the input tag with the given a in it.

Eg: <input type="text" value="Babbar">

<input type="submit" value="Click">

What is placeholder?

A guiding text (not value) kept for display in <input> when its empty.

Eg: <input type="email" placeholder="abc@example.xyz">

H/W: MDN: HTML Form

Form Elements:

→ input

→ label

→ Select Drop Menu

↳ Option

→ Button

→ textarea Multi-line Input Box

→ fieldset Group different elements of form together

→ legend Caption for fieldset

Caption ← legend

☐ Male ☐ Female ☐ Other ← Field Set

H/W: We can select 1 option by default using

<select> and <option>

→ Is it possible to select multiple options?

→ If yes, How?

Input types:

<input>

→ Text

→ Button

→ Radio

→ Check Box

→ File

→ Image

→ Date

→ Password

→ etc.

H/W: Search all Input Types

H/W: How to link multiple radio buttons to allow single selection?